

Ms. Osler's class is learning the letter H by turning a lowercase h into a horse.

Read Books Over and Over!

Young children love listening to the same books over and over—long after you are sick of the book! Read at least one book every day. You can get good children's books at the library, or at the Judy Center:

- Make reading to your child a part of bedtime routine. Allow them to choose from a few books. It is okay if they choose the same book every night!
- Take your child to the library and let them pick out any books they are interested in. You can also ask the librarian for book suggestions for your child's age group.
- Let your child sit close to you while you read to them—reading is a great way to bond with your child!

Open-ended question: What was your favorite part of the book and why?
