Let's Count All Month Long!

You and your child can work on counting all day long and all month long. Here are some ways to work on counting throughout the day:

- Count steps when going up and down stairs
- Count how many pieces of mail come in the mail each day
- Count how many fingers and toes you and your child have
- Count forks, knives, and spoons when getting ready to have dinner
- Count how many pieces of clothing your child puts on in the morning

Open-ended question: What else can we count? Have your child find something new to count every day!
